Velavi

- created in 2022 in collaboration with  MAISONS MARCON (3-star chef)
Saint-Bonnet-le-Froid
 - marketed by BIOVELLAVE since 2023
 - LOCAL, NATURAL and ORGANIC cosmetics
 - SHORT RANGE of product (7): unisex, organic, local
- ➡ 4 foundation ingredients : SPRING WATER, ACACIA, HONEY, VERBENA

Face

SWOT:

Strength : organic & local cosmetics, good positioning in pharmacies, market research insurance, recyclable packaging,

Weakness: small structure, restricted range, no partners abroad, produce since 1 year only

CAPACITY TO EXPORT INTERNATIONALLY :

Should FIRST CORRECT the elements which will pose problems, and EXPAND MORE TO FRANCE as a first step. Then IT WILL BE POSSIBLE TO EXPORT because the positioning and the commercial proposal are very consistent with the target market.

Germany market analysis

It benefits from the opportunity of a growing market (30 million in 2023 for the natural cosmetic market) but is threatened by strong competition.

Statista, 2023

PESTEL ANALYSIS

Politics: Strict regulations on cosmetics (BDIH, COSMOS, NATRUE labels), ban on animal testing (2004), government support for eco-responsible products, free trade in Schengen area

Economy: High purchasing power (28 500 SPA (26 300 SPA in France)), strong growth in the organic market (18% of the European market in 2022), but impact of inflation, low structural unemployment (6%).

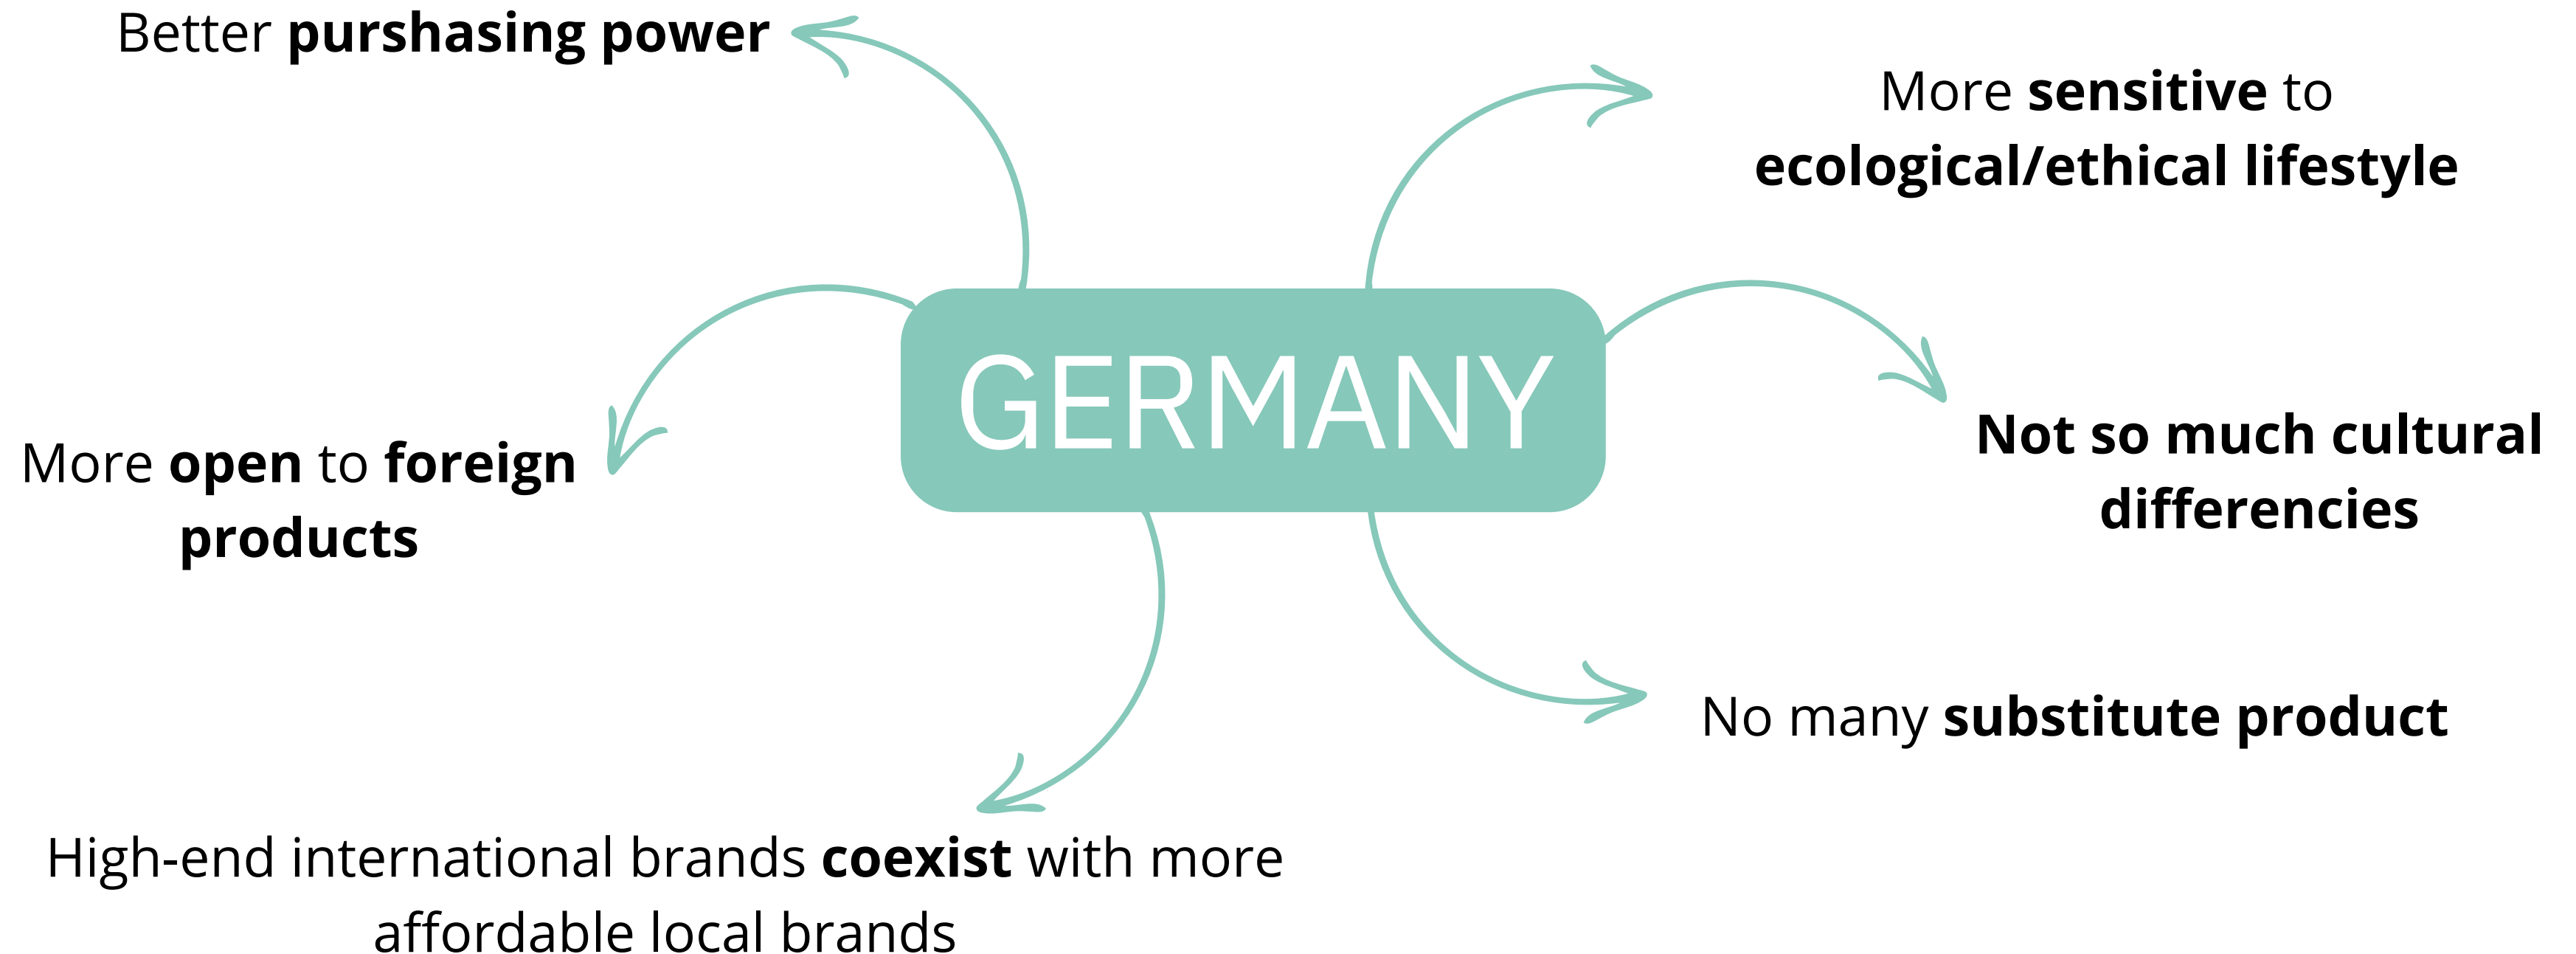

Sociocultural: Increased awareness of vegan, organic and ethical cosmetics, strong cultural diversity, willingness to spend money on cosmetics.

Technology: Digitalization of the sector, strong growth in e-commerce and personalization tools (AI).

Ecology: Strong demand for sustainable packaging and natural ingredients, but constraints linked to ecological standards, climate change risks

Legal: Strict regulations on advertising, ban on animal testing, mandatory certifications for organic products..

1. Velavi's strategy

I. Velavi's strategy

Entry strategy : Direct export

↳ trust an intermediary

- Method: Direct export via pharmacies, spas, concept stores
- Avoid: Franchise, subsidiary (too costly).

Objectives

General objectives three years

A full presence in Germany and contact with a 2nd European country

General objectives for 1 year

To have established solid partnerships with German groups and a presence in major cities

Specific product objectives

Make a minimum of 50% of France's turnover at n+1 in Germany

Indicators

Evolution in value: compare the turnover at the start of Velavi's activity (year n+1 i.e. 2023), extrapolate and compare with the turnover n+1 in Germany

Customer-specific objectives

Attracting and retaining customers

Indicators

Research into brand awareness (>5% of our target know Velavi) and loyalty rates --> quick questionnaire survey

I. Velavi's strategy

Segmentation

→ Targeting :

Demographic criteria : German, urban

Socio-demographic criteria : Woman, 35-45 yo, couple or married, 1 or 2 children, minimum of 2 years of higher education, SPC +

Psychographic criteria : Pays attention to her impact on the environment (its consumption), uses products that don't damage her health, open to new products from other countries, takes care of herself.

Behavioural criteria : Buys in apothecary, every month, not necessarily loyal to brands, used to go to spas every month

Positioning :

Identification: Velavi offers for women between 35 and 45 years old, a range of product for body and face that are organic, ethical and Made in France.

Differentiation:

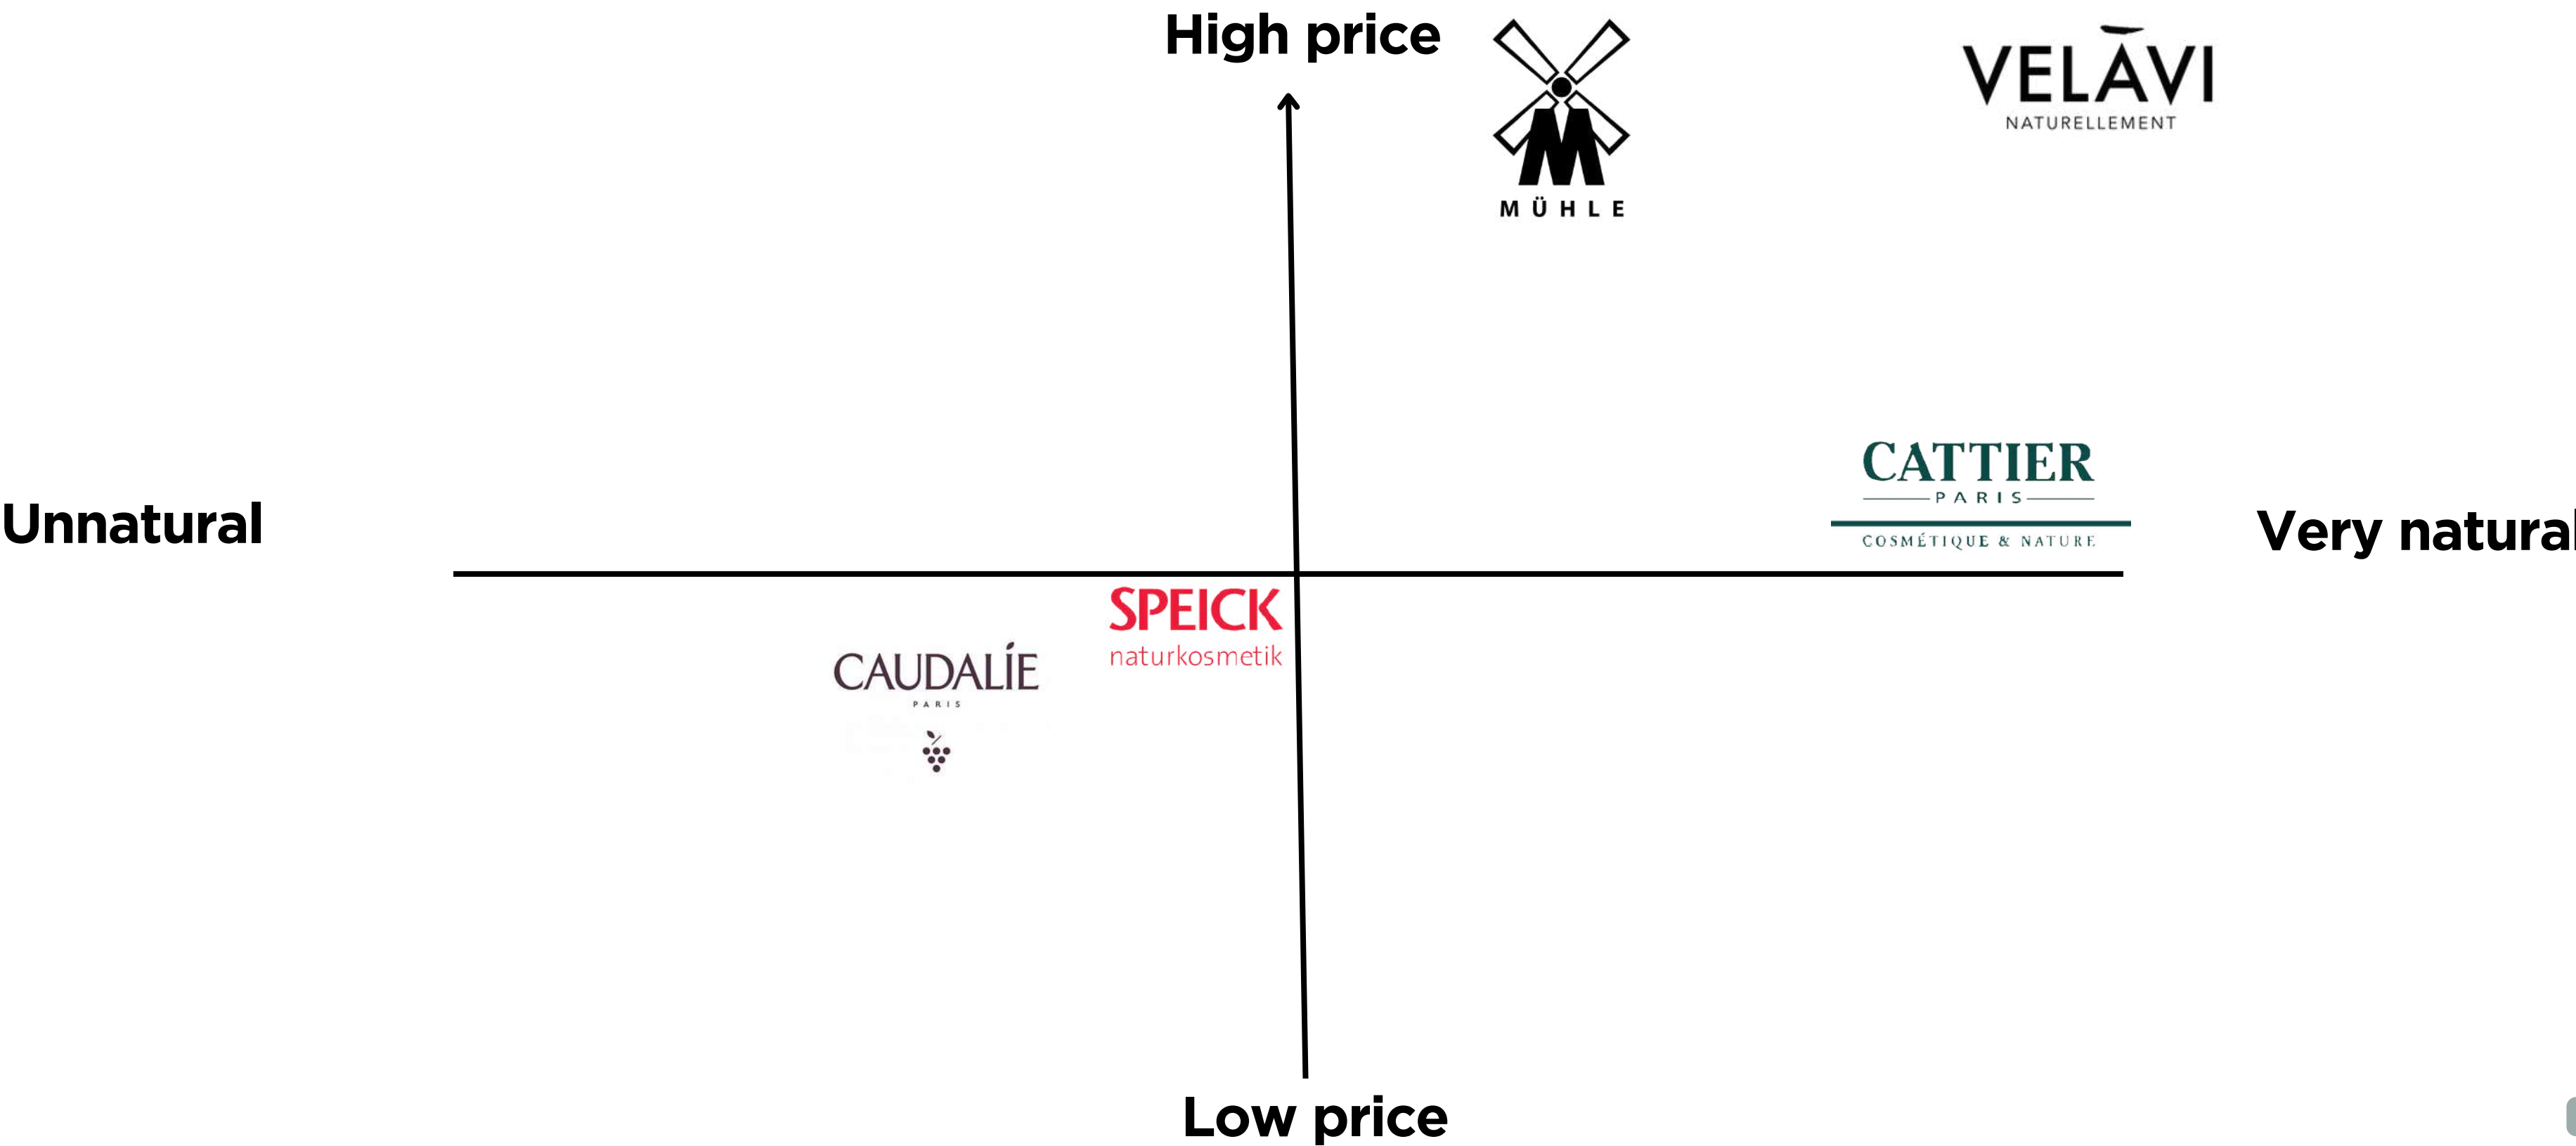

- Made in France
- Premium values
- Quality ingredients
- Really ethical and organic

Velavi stands out for its ethics, high quality and its relaxing products.

1. Velavi's strategy

Perceptual brand map

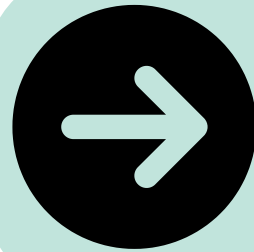

2. Product

“Glocal” strategy

2. Marketing Mix : Product

Product

The product strategy we chose for Velavi in Germany is a glocal one

Why?

In order to not to cost too much but to reach the right target.

Our target: urban women aged 35-45, environmentally conscious, with sensitive but non-problematic skin. They prefer organic, ethical products, buy in apothecaries monthly, and are open to new brands and international products.

Positioning:

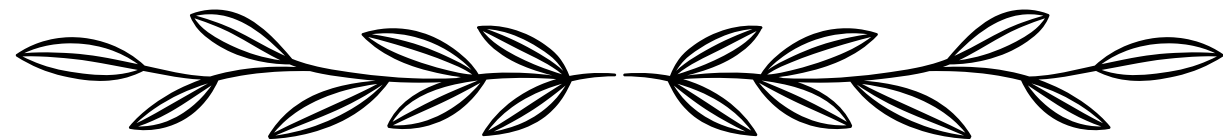

“Velavi offers German women between the ages of 35 and 45 a range of body and face products with naturally sourced ingredients and soothing properties offering them a simple daily ritual with a high quality from France.”

2. Marketing Mix : Product

Product

The products we would export:

Not all products are concerned,
Velavi should only choose one scent
that is more adapted to women.

Sulfate-free Shower Gel
- Royal Mountain Honey

Perfume-free Moisturising
Body Lotion
- Meadowsweet

Soothing Cream
- Sensitive Skin
- Royal Honey + Hydrolat Duo

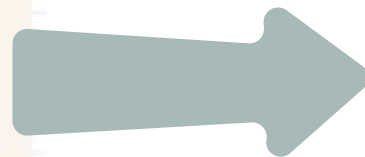

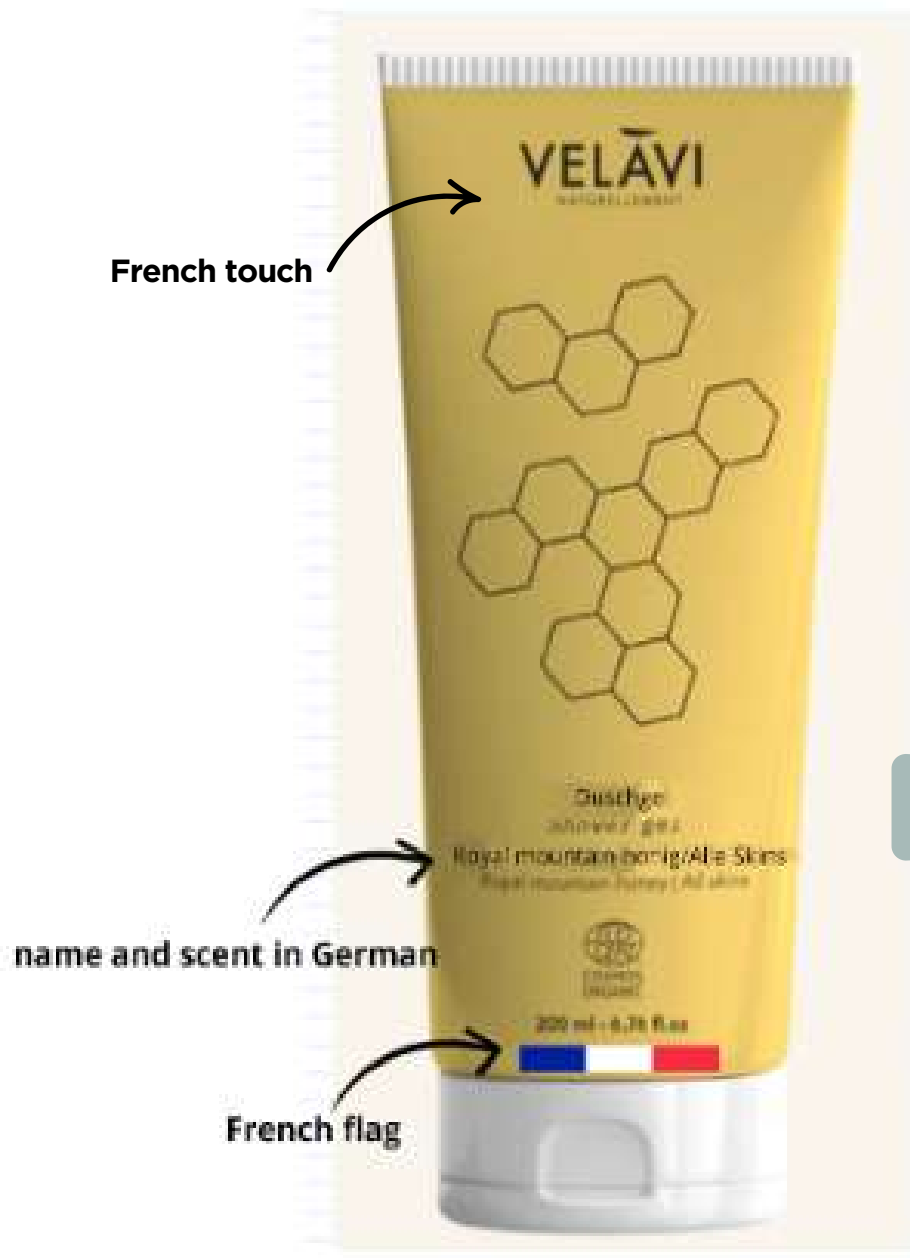

The brand name "Velavi" will remain unchanged as it has no particular meaning in German and no similar brands exist there. The ingredients and light natural scent will also be maintained, as they align with German preferences for natural products and changing them would be costly.

2. Marketing Mix : Product

Product

The real product (packaging):

The packaging will keep its shape, color, and size, with German translations added. "Made in France" will be more visible, and product instructions will be clearer. It will comply with VerpackG (LUCID registration) and display COSMOS, Bio, and Ecocert labels for trust. Standard EU symbols and info will be included.

The packaging must display standard info and symbols, including ingredients, usage, durability, and recycling, following EU guidelines.

2. Marketing Mix : Product

Product

Brand launch period :

The brand will launch in Germany in early spring, as the scent and yellow packaging evoke warmth and freshness.

Quantity :

In terms of quantity, we would produce a larger quantity to be able to export in Germany but we will not export more in Germany than what is being sold in France.

Customers service :

There is no specific after-sales service, but you can always contact the brand to ask questions or make comments. The website will be available in German.

3. Price

“Glocal” strategy

3. Marketing Mix : Price

Price

The shower gel is our main product, and cost calculations will be based on it.

Ingredient	Quantity (mL/g)	Cost (€)
Royal Honey	10 g	0.10
Organic Verbena Hydrosol	40 mL	0.72
Spring Water	100 mL	0.05
Organic Cistus Hydrosol	30 mL	0.75
Organic Yarrow Hydrosol	30 mL	0.45
Mild Surfactants	40 mL	0.16
Preservative	1 mL	0.05
Natural Fragrance	2 mL	0.30

*The estimated cost for 200ml of shower gel is €3, including packaging but excluding labor. With limited cost data, we used a competitive strategy, analyzing price and naturalness. Due to VAT differences (20% in France, 19% in Germany), the product would be priced at €12.79 in Germany, compared to €12.90 in France.

3. Marketing Mix : Price

Price

Competitor Matrix

Pricing & Positioning:

Velavi competes with premium natural brands. It's priced higher than competitors but lowering it would hurt margins. To justify its price, Velavi must adopt a more premium positioning. Unlike mass-market brands, it will focus on spas and pharmacies.

3. Marketing Mix : Price

Price

Price adaptation

Exporting the product to Germany increases costs. A lorry carrying 12,000 bottles results in a transport cost of €0.12 per bottle, bringing the total cost per unit to €12.91.

Additional costs arise from adapting packaging equipment, but the final price should remain under €13. To optimize consumer perception, the product will be priced at €12.99, leveraging psychological pricing strategies.

With higher purchasing power in Germany (average SPA: €28,500 vs. €26,300 in France), a 6% lower cost of living, and a higher minimum wage (€12.41 gross), this price aligns with a premium positioning and planned distribution in pharmacies and spas.

3. Marketing Mix : Price

Price

Our price strategy : the skimming approach

We chose a skimming strategy, targeting high-purchasing-power markets to position Velavi as a premium, eco-friendly brand. This maximizes margins and covers export costs. By focusing on spas and pharmacies, we attract consumers seeking natural, sustainable products.

Discovery offer and promotional offer

We plan to launch a three-month discovery offer in spring: the "Premium Discovery Pack", combining the shower gel and body lotion for €29.99 instead of €32.98 (inc. VAT).

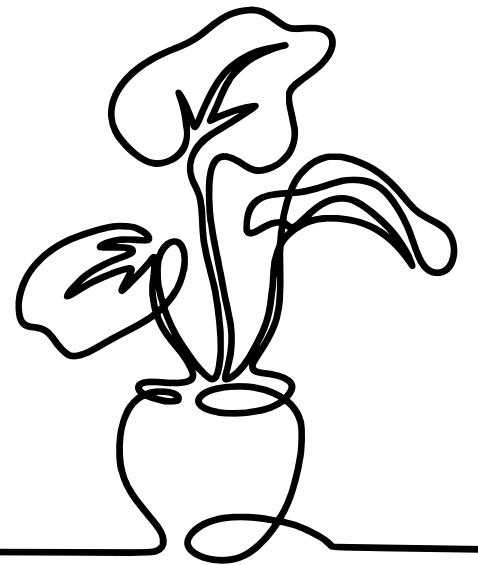

3. Marketing Mix : Price

Price

Standardization or Adaptation

In conclusion, we chose to standardize the price, avoiding major changes to our strategy in France. The price adjustment reflects export and packaging adaptation costs, raising the shower gel price slightly from €12.90 to €12.99 (inc. VAT).

Others products

The Meadowsweet Body Lotion and Soothing Cream will both be priced at €19.99, covering packaging adaptation and export costs.

4. Promotion

“Glocal” strategy

4. Marketing Mix : Promotion

Promotion

 cognitive objective with an explanatory tone

THE GOAL : make known the brand and show/explain the benefits of the product.

THE MESSAGE ANALYSIS

- Our messages must focus on quality, environmental commitment, natural products, health benefits, and a unique sensory experience with a very natural scent
- Focus on the relaxation, the pleasure that our product will provide.

THE TARGET

- Buyer and user are the same person
- Urban aged women between 35 and 45 years old
- Has 1 or 2 children
- Minimum of 2 years of higher education, SPC +
- Pays attention to her impact on the environment
- Uses products that don't damage her health
- Buys her cosmetic products in apothecary
- Open to new or foreign products

4. Marketing Mix : Promotion

Promotion

Message transmission mode

Velavi's current communication does not align with its premium quality and pricing in Germany
The brand should adopt a cleaner, more refined look, highlighting the product and its ingredients

Media communication

MICRO INFLUENCERS

- natural positioning and enable Velavi to be seen as close and accessible
- not as expensive as mega or macro influencers : it is an advantage for Velavi

- be seen by the target by appearing in their feed
- emphasize on the benefits of the product and the way to use it

4. Marketing Mix : Promotion

Promotion

Non-Media communication

3 major German cities : Berlin, Munich and Cologne

DISCOVERY STAND

- Big logo so that as many people as possible would remember it
- Atmosphere would focus on natural, organic, Made In France and top-of-the-range products

WEBSITE

- SEO

FAKE STREET MARKETING

try to create a buzz

- enhance our brand storytelling, showcase product visuals in ideal settings,
- Velavi's range staged in the most famous streets of medium cities in Germany

4. Marketing Mix : Promotion

Promotion

Message execution

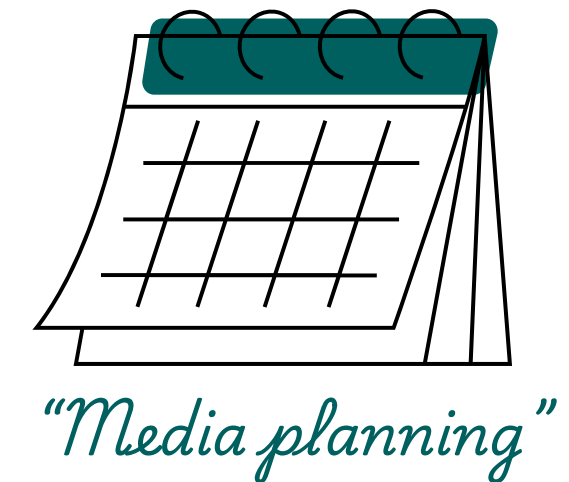

➔ Promotion campaign in spring

Stands will take place for one week in each city, the same week. This will be two weeks after the release of the products in Germany.

Regular social media posts (one per week)

Fake street marketing will be posted, in a sponsored post on all our social media, 4 weeks after the launch of the products.

5. Place

“Glocal” strategy

5. Marketing Mix : Place

Place

Expectations of our target :

- > concrete results and ethical values :
- delivery time (sufficient stock)
 - convenience and accessibility (major cities)
 - quality over quantity (exclusive spa product lines, limited-edition lines)
 - ethical service (refillable packagings...)
 - practical packaging sizes

Short distribution channel :

- not interesting to cover a large geographical area

Plan to have a sales representative in Germany :

- responsible for the events
- monitor distribution contracts
- follow the evolution (sales & stocks)

5. Marketing Mix : Place

Place

What market coverage strategy ?

We chose to do a selective distribution -> premium product.

↳ allow Velavi to really be seen as premium and to assure its positioning.

↳ apothecaries, spas (strong spa culture) and selective stores to distribute our products mainly

Criteria :

1. Location : in cities and in districts centered around an organic lifestyle
2. Values : the distributor should have values strongly orientated towards quality, local sourcing, and organic products
3. Other items and quantities : the other items that the distributor is selling should be organic and high-quality, so that when our products are next to them our image is not altered
4. Possibility of doing marketing actions in point of sale
5. Margin and type of contract : they should not impose a strong margin and contract should be for at least 2 years

5. Marketing Mix : Place

Place

Selective distribution

- number of distributors we get in one city :
 - if too much might impact our premium image
 - if small amount creates a sense of exclusivity
- evaluate the distributor's customer base to ensure their clientele aligns with our target :
 - high-income, eco-conscious consumers who care about premium, organic products

=> distributors found

- spas

(Berlin, Düsseldorf, Hamburg)

The first objective would be to sell in Vabali Spas because they are in 3 different cities so it will be easier to impose ourselves in a large geographic zone.

- apothecaries

SAINT CHARLES
APOTHECARY
EST. 1886
(München, Berlin)

+ small apothecaries that we will locate when going to Germany

- concept stores

AMAZINGY
Clean, organic & natural beauty since 2011
(Berlin and online)

Philokalist
(Frankfurt and online)

GREENIGLAM
(Augsburg and online)

In total we would have 11 physical places to distribute plus the online presence of our retailers.

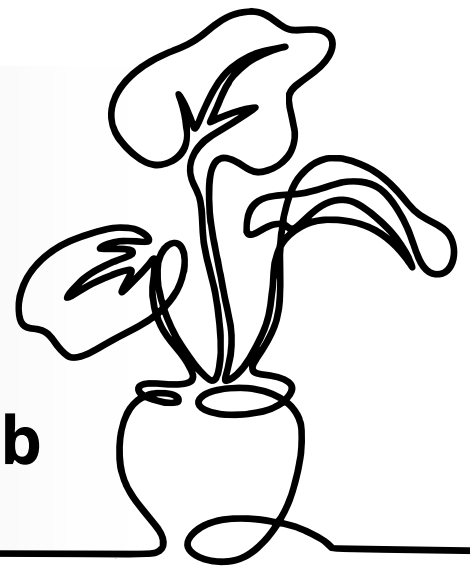

5. Marketing Mix : Place

Place

Digital-based internationalization :

If the store we are collaborating with do have a digital marketplace, we would be able to sell our product in a digital way by our retailers digital marketplace

➡ We choose for the moment not to do any digital selling of our product by our site web

If we did sell our product in our own digital marketplace we would have needed a place in Germany to stock our product and a big delivery system.

We will focus now on our other distribution places and see when we will be able to explore this side of the digital market too.

5. Marketing Mix : Place

Place

Marketing in point of sale :

In spas :

- Our target will appreciate well-presented products, so that they see them as premium.
- Women will be able to discover us, test us and this could trigger in them the desire to buy some to continue using them at home.
- They will associate the products with a moment of relaxation and pleasure.

Maybe : change the color of the packaging to be yellow. It could be interesting to change the photo in the background with a french landscape

5. Marketing Mix : Place

Place

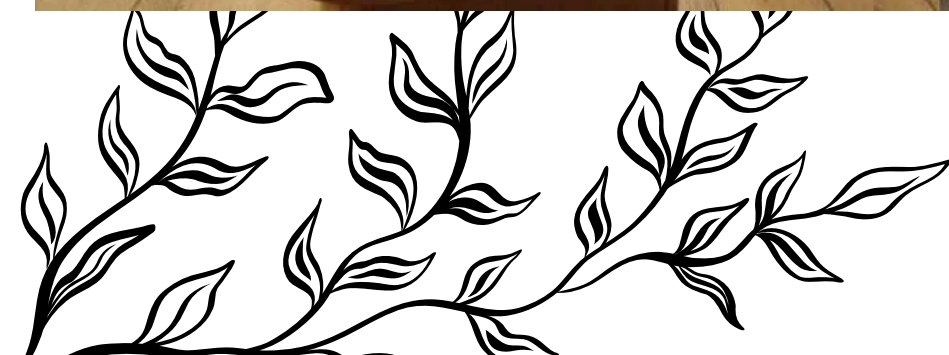

Marketing in point of sale :

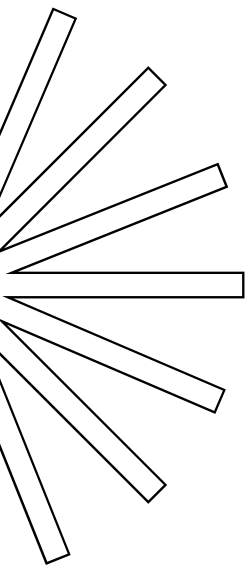

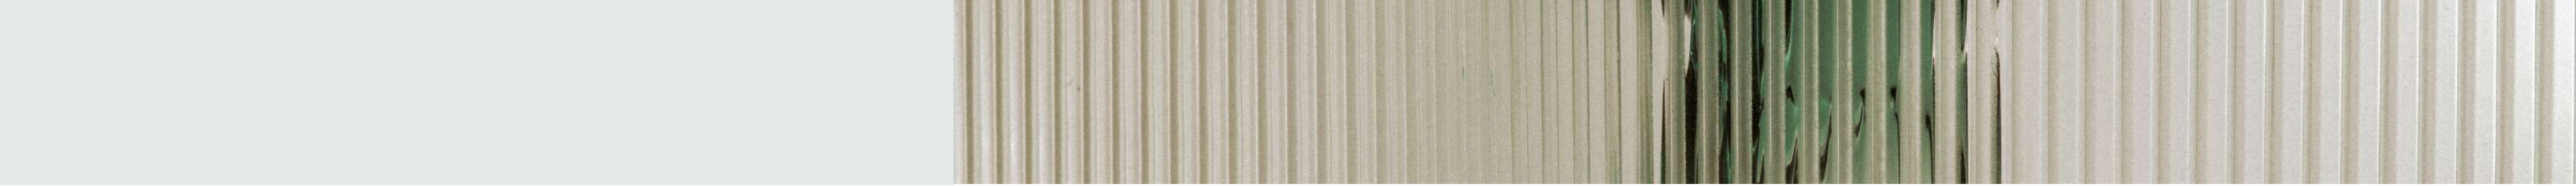

In apothecaries :

smaller than in the images.

- The goal is to highlight the high-end, natural positioning and to catch the eye. We will have to emphasize the “Made in France”.

9. Conclusion

The image features several yellow VELĀVI shower gel bottles arranged diagonally on the left and right sides. The bottles have a white cap and a label with a honeycomb pattern. The text on the label includes 'VELĀVI NATURELLEMENT', 'Gel douche Shower gel', 'Miel Royal des montagnes | Toutes peaux', 'Royal mountain honey | All skins', 'COSMOS ORGANIC', and '200 ml - 6,76 fl.oz'.
