

1 International Business: Skills Mastered

SKILL 1 - Formulating an international business strategy

Knowledge theoretical knowledge: techniques - methods - procedures - processes - regulations - foreign languages - software and other IT tools	Theoretical knowledge & techniques: • Strategic analysis frameworks: SWOT, PESTEL, Porter's 5 Forces. • International market entry modes: direct export, distributor networks, joint ventures, subsidiaries • Business plan construction: market sizing, competitive positioning, revenue projections • International Trade Regulations: Incoterms 2020, controls on exports of dual-use and licensed goods (DGA framework as applied within KNDS CBRN) • Cross-cultural business practices: differences in negotiation styles, decision-making, also studied in Germany at the ESB Business School (Reutlingen, 1 semester) Foreign languages: • English: C1 level (TOEIC): used daily in professional context at KNDS CBRN for written exchanges with international clients • German: A2 level: one full semester at ESB Business School (Germany) Software & IT tools: • Excel and other Microsoft Office tools: market data analysis, benchmarking tables, strategic dashboards • Canva / Wix: creation of marketing and commercial support materials
Professional skills - know how (action verbs)	• Analyse an international market using strategic tools (PESTEL, SWOT, competitive benchmarking) → SAÉ Y3: complete market study for "Extrem' Lingette" launch in Germany. Analysis of German hygiene product market, regulatory requirements, competitor landscape (AC24.01BI)

	● Collect and evaluate international environment data by identifying relevant sources and making sure the data is reliable → SAÉ Y2 and Y3: gathered and cross-referenced market data from multiple sources (trade databases, institutional reports, field observation during ESB semester) to build solid strategic foundations (AC24.02BI) ● Select the most relevant markets for export and import → SAÉ Y3 (Extrem' Lingette): chose indirect export via a local German distributor based on cost-benefit and risk analysis; SAÉ Y2 (Velavi): justified Germany as the target market using quantitative and qualitative indicators (AC24.03BI) ● Evaluate the export/import diagnostic and make strategic recommendations → SAÉ Y2 and Y3: turned market analyses into concrete strategic recommendations (AC34.01BI) ● Assess international markets taking into account geopolitical, cultural and ethical factors → ESB Business School semester in Germany: developed a real understanding of German business culture, negotiation norms and consumer behaviour that I applied directly to my German-market SAÉ projects (AC34.02BI) ● Propose the most suitable market entry mode → SAÉ Y2 (Velavi): selected distribution via a local agent; SAÉ Y3 (Extrem' Lingette): chose indirect export via a German distributor, both decisions justified through structured country and risk analysis (AC34.03BI)
Personal qualities – interpersonal skills	● I have developed strategic thinking and an international perspective through two export projects and a full semester abroad at ESB Business School (Germany). ● My attention to detail and my thoroughness are also valuable assets. ● I have developed intercultural adaptability through immersion in the German academic environment. ● Finally, I possess a degree of autonomy and initiative in managing SAEs.

1 Skills You Lack or Should Develop More

SKILL 1 - Formulating an international business strategy

Knowledge theoretical knowledge: techniques - methods - procedures - processes - regulations - foreign languages - software and other IT tools	• Advanced rules on international taxation and transfer pricing (beyond basic Incoterms) • Methodologies for analyzing political risks (BERI index, country risk assessment models) • My proficiency in German remains at an intermediate level; further progress is needed to achieve full fluency • WTO agreements and frameworks for bilateral free trade agreements
Professional skills - know how (action verbs)	• Master advanced financial modeling techniques for international investment decisions (DCF, scenario analysis, sensitivity analysis) • Conduct field market research directly in a foreign country, going beyond what I have already done in Germany (interviews with local partners, observation, prospecting at trade shows)
Personal qualities – interpersonal skills	• I need to build my confidence when giving oral presentations in English in a professional setting • I need to take a more proactive approach to identifying new opportunities in international markets

Difficulties encountered	The way you've dealt with them?
Regulatory compliance management for the export of dual-use and licenced products at KNDS CBRN: highly specific regulations that are not covered in class.	I conducted independent research, consulted my supervisor, and cross-referenced French export control guidelines (SBDU)

Your satisfaction points	Your dissatisfaction points
• I developed two comprehensive export strategies for the German market (Velavi Y2, Extrem' Lingette Y3) • I gained practical experience in international trade at KNDS CBRN, in a highly specialized sector • A semester at ESB Business School (Germany) gave me a truly intercultural experience that went beyond mere theory	• I still need to improve my German before I can use it effectively in business negotiations • My experience with actual international negotiations is limited, and I have mainly gained experience through simulations

2 International Business: Skills Mastered

SKILL 2 - Managing international operations

Knowledge theoretical knowledge: techniques - methods - procedures - processes - regulations - foreign languages - software and other IT tools	Theoretical knowledge & techniques: ● International logistics chain: Incoterms 2020 (EXW, FCA, DAP, CIF), freight transport modes (road, air, sea), multimodal logistics, environmental and ethical considerations in supply chain management (AC25.02BI) ● International trade administration: export documentation (packing list, commercial invoice...), export licence procedures which I have been able to observe as part of my ADV role at KNDS CBRN (AC25.03BI) ● International marketing positioning: adapting the commercial offer to the cultural specificities of the target market (AC25.04BI) ● Dual-use export controls: French SBDU/DGA regulatory framework, which I observe as part of my ADV role at KNDS CBRN ● Trade fair operations: pre-show planning, material logistics, on-site coordination Foreign languages: ● English: C1 level (TOEIC): I use it every day at KNDS CBRN for written communication with international clients ● German: A2 level: semester at ESB Business School Software & IT tools: ● Excel and other Microsoft Office tools: order follow-up tables, supplier tracking
Professional skills - know how (action verbs)	● Manage part of the international sales process in intercultural situations → at KNDS CBRN I handle a part of the ADV cycle for international clients across multiple countries (AC25.01BI) ● Observe export licence and customs procedures → as part of my ADV role at KNDS CBRN I have had the opportunity to observe how dual-use export compliance is handled in practice (AC25.03BI) • Propose a marketing offer adapted to the target market → SAÉ Y2 (Velavi): positioned the product in line with German consumer expectations and cultural specificities; my ESB semester gave me first-hand insight into the local market (AC25.04BI) • Coordinate logistics for trade fair participation → I help organise and track materials, documentation and transport for KNDS CBRN trade show preparation

Personal qualities – interpersonal skills	• I have developed strong organizational skills and a strong ability to multitask, effectively managing multiple tasks simultaneously. • I demonstrated a genuine ability to adapt by mastering KNDS CBRN's internal processes and tools. • Working daily with the logistics, finance, technical, and legal teams has strengthened my ability to collaborate across different departments.

2 Skills You Lack or Should Develop More

SKILL 2 - Managing international operations

Knowledge theoretical knowledge: techniques - methods - procedures - processes - regulations - foreign languages - software and other IT tools	• Maritime and air freight specifics in depth (Bill of Lading, air waybill, freight forwarding brokerage) • International financial risk management: currency hedging, exchange rate exposure, trade credit insurance • ERP tools: I am about to get access to one at KNDS CBRN as we are switching systems, but I have not used one yet in a real professional context
Professional skills - know how (action verbs)	• Manage a full import operation independently (my ADV role at KNDS CBRN focuses mainly on outbound flows) • Negotiate freight contracts directly with logistics providers and freight forwarders • Handle a documentary credit (letter of credit) process end-to-end in a real transaction
Personal qualities – interpersonal skills	• I need to be more confident in handling delays or disputes with suppliers in a professional setting • I also need to strengthen my project management skills to handle larger and more complex international supply chains

Difficulties encountered	The way you've dealt with them?
Getting to grips with KNDS CBRN's internal processes and tools from scratch while managing real client files from the very first weeks of my apprenticeship	I observed a lot, asked questions, shadowed my colleagues on the job, and created my own reference guides to quickly get up to speed

Your satisfaction points	Your dissatisfaction points
● I gained full ADV experience in a specialised defence environment with complex export requirements, which is much more than a standard commercial internship ● My semester at ESB Business School reinforced my understanding of German logistics and distribution	● My exposure to import and purchasing flows has been limited, as my ADV role focuses mainly on outbound operations ● I would have liked to attend a trade fair abroad and manage the logistics chain live on-site ● I have had no direct experience with letters of credit in real transactions yet

3 International Business: Skills Mastered

SKILL 3 - Managing marketing campaigns

Knowledge theoretical knowledge: techniques - methods - procedures - processes - regulations - foreign languages - software and other IT tools	Theoretical knowledge & techniques: ● Communication strategy aligned with the marketing mix: defining objectives, targets and media choices in a consistent way (AC23.01) ● Media planning: channel selection criteria, media indicators and 360° communication planning (AC23.02 / AC23.03) ● Digital strategy: social media, blogs, influencers, e-reputation monitoring and performance tracking (AC23.04) ● Brand identity and visual communication: graphic guidelines, consistency across various media ● Event marketing and trade shows: pre-show strategy, on-site communication, post-show follow-up ● Cross-cultural marketing: adapting messages for foreign markets, and applying these principles in my SAÉ projects targeting German consumers Foreign languages: ● English: C1 level (TOEIC): used to produce bilingual marketing materials in some projects ● German: A2 level: I worked on marketing content tailored to a German audience Software & IT tools: ● Canva: I designed flyers, product sheets, social media visuals and commercial brochures in class ● Wix: I created and edited website
Professional skills - know how (action verbs)	● Develop a communication strategy adapted to a brief → SAÉ Y2 (Velavi): built full communication strategies from brief to execution, aligned with the marketing mix and adapted to the German market (AC23.01)

	● Develop a media plan using channel selection criteria → as part of my SAÉ projects, I selected the most appropriate communication channels for each target audience and justified my choices; I also proposed a 360° communication plan and produced the corresponding materials, making sure everything was consistent and effective (AC23.02 / AC23.03) ● Adapt marketing content to a cross-cultural audience → my ESB semester gave me real cultural insight that I used in my German-market SAÉ projects (Velavi Y2, Extrem' Lingette Y3), going beyond simple translation to adapt tone, visuals and messaging
Personal qualities – interpersonal skills	● I consider myself a creative person, able to produce visually engaging and professionally consistent materials, particularly with Canva ● I always pay close attention to brand coherence, making sure everything reflects the right identity and tone ● My semester at ESB Business School gave me genuine cross-cultural sensitivity and a real understanding of how communication has to be adapted, not just translated

3 Skills You Lack or Should Develop More

Skill 3 - Managing marketing campaigns

Knowledge theoretical knowledge: techniques - methods - procedures - processes - regulations - foreign languages - software and other IT tools	• Paid advertising platforms: Google Ads, Meta Ads Manager, LinkedIn Ads (campaign setup, targeting, bidding strategies) • Advanced digital analytics: Google Analytics 4, conversion tracking, campaign attribution models • Marketing automation and CRM integration (HubSpot, Mailchimp) • Campaign budget management: full media plan, cost-per-lead calculations, ROI reporting
Professional skills - know how (action verbs)	• Manage a full paid digital campaign independently, from brief to performance reporting • Measure campaign results using analytics tools and adjust strategy based on the data
Personal qualities – interpersonal skills	• I need to develop a more data-driven approach to marketing decisions, going beyond visual intuition • I also need to build my confidence when presenting campaign strategies and results

Difficulties encountered	The way you've dealt with them?
I am not involved in marketing or communications at KNDS CBRN, so my practical experience in this area comes mainly from my SAÉ projects	I made the most of every SAÉ project and my ESB semester to develop real applied marketing skills and compensate for the lack of professional exposure in this area

Your satisfaction points	Your dissatisfaction points
● I gained valuable cross-cultural marketing experience through two German market SAÉ projects and my semester at ESB ● Helping organize trade shows gave me a better understanding of event communication	● My experience with digital campaign management is very limited as I have no marketing responsibilities at KNDS CBRN ● I have no practical experience managing a marketing campaign budget ● I would like to practise using Google Analytics, Google Ads and Meta Ads as part of a real project

4 International Business: Skills Mastered

SKILL 4 - Selling commercial offers / communicating commercial offers

Knowledge theoretical knowledge: techniques - methods - procedures - processes - regulations - foreign languages - software and other IT tools	Theoretical knowledge & techniques: ● Client profiling and needs discovery: how to build a discovery plan to understand who the client is and what they need (AC12.01) ● Sales argumentation: how to build a pitch that really fits the client's needs (AC12.02) ● Sales support tools (OAV): how to design and use effective tools like calculation sheets and argumentation materials (AC12.03) ● Prospecting techniques: tools and methods used to find and approach new clients (AC12.05) Foreign languages: ● English: C1 level (TOEIC): I read and review commercial offers sent to international clients at KNDS CBRN, which has helped me understand how professional proposals are structured in English ● German: A2 level: my semester at ESB helped me feel more confident in professional German communication Software & IT tools: ● Excel and other Microsoft Office tools: pricing templates, product comparison charts, performance tracking ● Outlook: support for managing business correspondence with international clients at KNDS CBRN
Professional skills - know how (action verbs)	● Evaluate commercial performance using indicators → I track offer follow-up and KPIs in Excel at KNDS CBRN (AC12.04) ● Apply professional communication codes in commercial contexts → through daily reading of commercial offers in English at KNDS CBRN, I have developed a good understanding of the professional registers used in B2B/B2G sales (AC12.06)

Personal qualities – interpersonal skills	• Reading commercial offers in English every day at KNDS CBRN has sharpened my attention to detail and my ability to spot inconsistencies or missing information in a professional document • I always put the client's needs first, even when I am not directly in contact with them, by making sure the documents I work with are accurate and complete • My TOEIC C1 and daily exposure to professional English demonstrate that I have solid communication skills in an international context

4 Skills You Lack or Should Develop More

SKILL 4 - Selling commercial offers / communicating commercial offers

Knowledge theoretical knowledge: techniques - methods - procedures - processes - regulations - foreign languages - software and other IT tools	• Advanced negotiation techniques: defending and promoting an offer while reading the buyer's purchasing strategies (AC22.02) • Legal and accounting elements of a commercial offer: the contractual and financial dimensions of a sale (AC22.03) • Key Account Management methodology: strategic account planning, relationship mapping, long-term client development • Sales pipeline management and revenue forecasting using a CRM tool
Professional skills - know how (action verbs)	• Lead a live negotiation with a real client on my own • Manage a sales pipeline end-to-end using a CRM tool: qualify leads, track opportunities, forecast revenue
Personal qualities – interpersonal skills	• I need to build more confidence in live oral negotiation situations, especially under pressure or with senior people • I also need to develop a more proactive commercial mindset, looking for new opportunities rather than waiting for them to come to me • Finally, I need to work on my active listening skills during client needs analysis to pick up on things that are not said directly

Difficulties encountered	The way you've dealt with them?
My role at KNDS CBRN does not involve direct sales or client negotiations, which limits my practical exposure to this skill in a professional	I compensated through role-plays in class, and by regularly reading the commercial offers exchanged at KNDS CBRN to understand how

context	they are built
---------	----------------

Your satisfaction points	Your dissatisfaction points
• Every day at KNDS CBRN I read and review commercial offers written in English, which gives me real insight into how professional proposals are structured • My TOEIC C1 and daily use of English demonstrate that I have strong international communication skills	• I have no experience negotiating face-to-face with clients, as that is not part of my role at KNDS CBRN • I would have liked to participate more regularly in calls or meetings with clients to develop my live negotiation skills